ABOUT JOURNAL

The Journal of Pharmaceutical Negative Results (www.pnrjournal.com)– An official publication of Phcog.Net (www.phcog.net), it is a peer reviewed journal developed to publish original, innovative and novel research articles resulting in negative results. This peer-reviewed scientific journal publishes a theoretical and empirical paper that reports the negative findings and research failures in pharmaceutical field. Submissions should have a negative focus, which means the outputs of research yielded in negative results are being given more preference. All theoretical and methodological perspectives are welcomed. We also encourage the submission of short papers/communications presenting counter-examples to usually accepted conjectures or to published papers. This Journal is being published Annually.
